

Here for Children: Children's Services Directory sponsored by Growing Places

Sponsorship of children's resource listing to provide sense of collaboration and networking

Each of us has something completely unique and wonderful to offer. Each child and family has special needs and preferences. Growing Places is pleased to present Here for Children, a directory of people who make Children a top priority. Anyone who offers to share a special talent or service with children, is invited to be included in this comprehensive listing of services and opportunities. Publication of this listing is slated for March. For inclusion in this valuable parent resource, please take a few moments to provide pertinent information and return the enclosed form today!
